 Limited time offer. In the critically acclaimed The Rope in the Water, Sylvia Fraser described her three-month pilgrimage to India in search of "something larger than myself, something deeper, something more." In The Green Labyrinth, Fraser continues her journey, this time deep into the jungle of the Amazon in the company of shamans, traditional spiritualists practicing ancient rituals. At the heart of Fraser's quest lies the mind-expanding drug "ayahuasca", a gateway to worlds beyond her own, to a better understanding of the mysteries of existence. Fraser takes us to shamanic sanctuaries that hover at the edge of our modern world, providing a portal to the unknown. Along the way she introduces us to a diverse group of pilgrims searching for their own answers with the help of shamans and ayahuasca.

Through meaningful visions and with spiritual guidance, Fraser and her fellow travellers acquire insight into their emotional and psychic lives, and discover that many of the answers they are searching for lie within themselves.

New Scientist magazine was launched in 1956 "for all those men and women who are interested in scientific discovery, and in its industrial, commercial and social consequences". The brand's mission is no different today - for its consumers, New Scientist reports, explores and interprets the results of human endeavour set in the context of society and culture.

The Builder

The definitive, behind-the-scenes story of the most innovative airline in America A few years ago, an unknown entrepreneur named David Neeleman uprooted his wife and nine kids from Utah to New York, dreaming of a bold new company that would make jaded travelers fall in love with flying again. Barbara S. Peterson has been reporting on JetBlue since the "Jet who?" days when few outsiders believed in the company. Drawing on exclusive interviews with more than seventy-five insiders, from mechanics on the tarmac to the CEO, she weaves together a dynamic story of how JetBlue has blended outstanding customer service, inspirational leadership, savvy marketing, and disciplined financial management to come out on top. "It's fun to read about simple ideas that change the way we do things . . . and it's always fun to watch the whoosh of good ideas hit the brick walls of habit and bureaucracy. . . .The smart, fast, little guy wins!"

—Los Angeles Times "A quick, breezy read studded with mini-profiles, snippets of aviation history and amusing anecdotes."

—The Wall Street Journal "An engaging peek into the open cockpits of the airline industry, its foibles and pitfalls, written by someone who knows the industry, yet still loves to fly. This book is the chronicle of one little airline that could." —Book Page

"Peterson moves beyond personalities to detail how Neeleman crafted more of a branded travel experience than an airline."

—BusinessWeek "[Peterson] gets the inside scoop on JetBlue's quirky corporate culture and Neeleman's fresh approach to an antiquated business model." —Advertising Age

Works of Art

"I have not attempted a presentation of Early Netherlandish Painting in its entirety ... but concentrated my efforts on Hubert and Jan van Eyck, the Master of Flémalle and Roger van der Weyden ... Like my previous book on Albrecht Dürer, this study has grown out of a series of public lectures - in this case, the Charles Eliot Norton Lectures delivered at Harvard University in 1947-1948"--Preface, v. 1, p. vii.
